Student Council Reviews Changes In Constitution

The Student Council will meet Friday to consider a constitutional amendment which would sharply cut the number of representatives in that body.

The amendment, as proposed by Debating president Jerome J. Frese, calls upon the Council to replace the twenty-one activities representatives by four of that number. These four would be elected by vote of the activities heads alone.

The amendment was proposed before the Council at the last meeting but could not come up for discussion for at least a week.

MEMBERSHIP NOW 27

The present membership of the Council is twenty-seven, whereas the new proposal advocates twelve representatives.

Other business conducted at last Friday's meeting included the election of new officers of the Council and the establishment of a traffic commission to work with Fr. Logan, the Dean of Men, toward the solution of the parking problem.

NEW OFFICERS

New officers elected at the meeting include: Renato DeSantis, Vice-president; George Nellies, Secretary; David Greenwood, Treasurer; Gerard Petrik, Social Secretary and Robert McGrain, Parliamentarian.

Petrik will chair the Social Activities Committee of the Council in organizing the social calendar for the year.

Jerome Kauper was re-elected as Loyola's representative to the National Students Association and Donald Dodson succeeded Nellies in the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

Mr. Nicholas Varga was elected Lay Faculty Moderator, replacing Dr. Harry Kirwin.

Frosh Class Learns Role

Freshmen orientation, begun September 13, will continue until at least October 5, the date of the annual rugby game.

The planning of the orientating, directed by Sophomore Class President Charles Fitzsimmons, has included instruction in the purposes and functions of campus organizations and the place of the individual in campus life here.

Particular emphasis has been placed on the wearing by all freshmen of the traditional "pup" caps, the emblem of froshhood. These caps must be worn until the rugby game, at which time the freshmen, should they defeat the Sophomore Class, will be able to dispense with them.

A Freshman Welcoming Dance will be held in the Gym, October 6, the first social event of the Loyola Season.

11 ADDITIONS TO FACULTY

Eleven new members have been added to the Loyola Faculty for the academic year, 1956-57 and eight former instructors have left the College.

New members of the Jesuit faculty include; the Revs. Michael F. Maher, assistant to the President and superintendent of buildings; James A. McEnerney, treasurer; Joseph P. Logan, Dean of Men; Gerald J. Costello, instructor in calculus; William E. Schaffner, instructor in Theology; and Francis A. Wallner, instructor in philosophy.

Lay Faculty Members

Additions to the lay faculty include: Elmer L. DiBiagio, instructor in physics; Paul M. Downing, instructor in political science and history; Mark L. Gnerro, instructor in English; Richard Macksey, instructor in English and Captain Nelson F. Ritter, assistant professor of military science and tactics.

Benedictine Instructor

The Rev. Joseph L. Hoffer, of the Order of Saint Benedict will teach biology. Fr. Hoffer is a graduate of the Royal Pazmany University in Hungary and holds a Ph.D. from Fordham University.

LeFevre New Dept. Director

The Very Reverend Vincent F. Beatty, S.J., has announced the appointment of Bill LeFevre as Director of Public Relations for Loyola College.

Mr. LeFevre has been well known to many people in the Baltimore area as Sports Director and Night News Editor of Radio Station W F B R.

Mr. LeFevre is a native of Baltimore and received his education at St. Paul's Catholic School and Poly. He is now studying in Loyola Evening College. Mr. LeFevre is married and the father of three boys and two girls.

Impressed, Grateful

On taking office, Mr. LeFevre said, "I have always been impressed with the fine work of the Jesuit fathers. I'm indeed grateful for the opportunity to work with Father Beatty and the staff."

Fr. Beatty said Mr. LeFevre will begin forming a Public Relations Department to coordinate all information relating to Loyola College and its association with the City of Baltimore and surrounding areas. The Director of Public Relations will work closely with the Alumni and friends of Loyola on a long range program of development.

FLANIGAN HEADS BUILDING PLAN

Pierce J. Flanigan, Jr., recently became general chairman of the long-range Development Plan now in operation at Loyola. Mr. Flanigan will coordinate work toward raising $2,550,000, the Plan's first goal.

In his new capacity Mr. Flanigan will help guide a program at Evergreen calling for new construction, enlarged endowment plan and other features. Topping the list is an Engineering Physics Building to cost $1,000,000. The very Rev. Vincent F. Beatty, S.J., President, emphasized the need for this building by pointing out Loyola's new engineering course, which is designed to keep the school abreast of engineering developments.

Additional immediate objectives are a Student Union Building, to cost $750,000 and an endowment for a Faculty Salary Fund of $500,000. The Fund will be directed to raising salaries of lay faculty members. A permanent Alumni Office and acquisition of land complete the first phase of the program.

Further assistance in completing the scheduled program is coming from the permanent Development Office which has been set up in the Library Building. Mr. Frank O'Hern heads this new office. A graduate of Colgate, he has had much experience in college development work. Concerning the new program, Mr. O'Hern said, "I would like to convey the idea of a continuing situation. The present plans are but one part of a program that will be augmented gradually year after year."

First Stage Completed

Mr. Flannigan noted that, "The first stage of the program has already been accomplished in the rebuilding of the faculty house. Senator Herbert R. O'Connor is working along with the Alumni and Mr. O'Hern is organizing the program that will expand to include participation by the Baltimore business community."

Heymann Elected President

Alpha Sigma Nu Chooses Officers

Alpha Sigma Nu, the national Jesuit Honor Fraternity, elected Robert L. Heymann, president; Robert J. Baker, vice president; Charles J. Burke, treasurer; and Robert E. McGrain, secretary at its September 5 meeting.

In addition to the officers, Lawrence F. Awalt, Emile R. Moehler and J. Paul Rogers were accepted for membership at the annual reception of the ASN held at Evergreen, June 17.

Awalt and Moehler graduated in June. Rogers has since left Loyola to attend the University of Maryland Law School.

A buffet supper in honor of the new members followed the induction ceremonies in Xavier Lounge.

Heymann is a scholastic leader of the '57 class, member of the Debating Society, and member of the Greyhound staff. Baker is president of the International Relations Club and Managing Editor of the Greyhound. Burke heads the LIT, literary fraternity. McGrain is Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound and past president of the Classics Academy.

The Alpha Sigma Nu society was formed in 1915 to honor students of Jesuit universities and colleges who have distinguished themselves in scholarship, loyalty and service.

Requirements for admittance to ASN include a high scholastic average and activity in extracurricular organizations.

5 In Eta Sigma Phi

Five new members were received into the Loyola chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, the National Classics Fraternity at a meeting held in June.

New members include J. Jerome Frese, Renato P. DeSantis, Liborio J. LaMartina, John Cummings, Jr. and Robert E. McGrain.

Robert Baker, Charles Burks, Robert McGrain and Robert Heymann discuss plans for the annual Gorman Lecture Series, sponsored by Alpha Sigma Nu.

Doctor Kaltenbach, Mr. Varga, Mr. Downing and Father Hoggson display non-academic prowess at the Freshman Welcoming Tea in Cohn Hall.

Redevelopment Plans

No member of the Loyola family can be other than pleased that the development plan put forward by Father Beatty is finally getting under way. Ever since a few bits and scraps of the plan began leaking out last year a strong feeling of hopeful anticipation has pervaded the campus. Too long have the students and faculty alike felt the spatial inadequacy of the present buildings. Only a supreme determination on their part has kept Loyola's standards up.

The plans, as recently revealed, appear well-conceived in every way. The engineering physics building, the student union building and the endowment fund promise the students great assistance in their extracurricular activities, promise the faculty an addition to their presently poor salary.

But we must all fully realize that there lies a great gap between these ideas and their fulfillment. Money, in excess of two million, is necessary for all this advancement. Land must be acquired somewhere on which to situate these new buildings. Detailing and the actual work of construction will take years and it is doubtful whether any of this improvement will be completed during our stay at Loyola.

But a beginning has been made; the initial steps have been taken. Ahead lies the promise of a better education for every student, a better salary for every professor and a better chance for every activity to flourish.

It is now for every alumnus and student and friend of Loyola to aid in whatever way he is able toward the rapid realization of Loyola of Tomorrow.

Mr. Stevenson Will Not Do

Election time is again upon us, leering promisingly from every billboard and television screen. Again we are called upon to vote, either for a proven success or a proven failure.

And this is all they are asking us to do. The candidate of the Republican party is a man liked and respected by the great majority of the populace for his competent and honest record of administration. He has halted the mad shift of government toward socialism as advocated by the New Deal-Fair Deal wastrels. He has forced the Navy to realize that rope-and sail-making might very well become lost arts for a military force. He has consistently refused to make a fool of himself by swinging on reporters or wearing idiotic hats.

The candidate of the Labor party, on the other hand, has spent the last four years lolling about in international tourist traps and telling himself that, given another chance, the American people will share in his high opinion of himself.

Mr. Stevenson offers us nothing new. Aside from sweetness and light, he stands for nothing but the same old government monopoly to the exclusion of free enterprise. Undoubtedly he will gain a degree of bonehead support from those who are sorry the Republicans did not nominate a mythical candidate for the Vice Presidency, but he has antagonized a great many southerners by his stand on segregation.

His stand, if such posturing can be so called, on high farm doles marks the rout and confusion his party has been thrown into by the Eisenhower way of doing things. For over twenty years the public weal had been equated with the public squeal as taxes shot up to meet obligations to that party's spend, lend, dead-end policies for enforced national bankruptcy. A balanced budget makes them roll up their eyes like old time revivalists and proclaim the world's end.

Girding his quips about his loins, Stevenson announces that we need the family farm, social security, motherhood and even fatherhood. Our mid-West messiah shakes, grinds and roars out an aspen platitude, scared by the noise.

As long as he and his followers continue to prescribe the dubious remedies of the depression for the ills of today they cannot expect to command either the support or even the respect of Americans.

Mr. Stevenson definitely will not do.

skeptic tank

by rob pula

I am happy to suppose that it will come as no surprise to my readers that: RESOLVED, I am not planning to support either of the presidential candidates now before us. Conscious as I am of the weight that an endorsement in this column would carry, I have given the matter very serious thought. And, as all political science majors know, serious thought is seldom the stuff of which political endorsements are made.

Rather than launch a lengthy attack on the two parties, I propose to be constructive, dynamic, sage, luminary, perspicacious, valiant, gallant, dauntless and announce the founding of the first genuine third party in American history. (For the rest of what I am going to be, see Roget's Thesaurus.)

Be it hereby announced that We Love The Little Man Including Catholics, Protestants and Jews and Are Also in Favor of Statehood For Alaska and Hawaii, Big Business, Little Business, Farmers, Teachers, Education, Servile Rights, States Rights, and Whatever's Left Rights Party is formed. For obvious reason, the party will be referred to simply as the W.L.P.L.M.I.C.P.J.A.A.I.F.S.F.A.H.V.B.L.B.F.T.E.S.R.S.R.W.L.R.P.

Our candidate for President is Zbigniew Znaniecki, a man who owes allegiance to no man. Mr. Znaniecki has never made a deal in his life. He is an unsuccessful used-car salesman, is married, has thirteen children and regularly attends the church of his choice. Mr. Znaniecki needs the job.

The vice presidential candidate is Joe Smith of Scotts Bluff, Nevada. Mr. Smith failed to make the grade at San Francisco and is feeling awfully disappointed. Well, there's a place for Mr. Smith with the W.L.P.L.M.I.C.P.J.A.A.I.F.S.F.A.H.V.B.L.B.F.T.E.S.R.S.R.W.L.R.P. Mr. Smith is an underdog.

Our foreign policy plank is a strong one. We propose that the Suez Canal be filled in with empty oil drums and dishonorably discharged French legionnaires, led by Captain Gallant. Cyprus will be moved to the middle of the Atlantic, thus relieving the pressure on Egypt. Egypt, without either pressure or canal, will shrink to the size of Patterson Park. The space left will be occupied by Israel.

A U.S.-financed toll bridge should be constructed between Formosa and the Chinese mainland, the tolls to be so prohibitive as to make Mao-Tse-Tung think twice before crossing.

On the domestic front, we will shift the South, West, North and East around in a clockwise direction, thus solving the problem of school integration. Obviously, if Southerners are Westerners, Westerners, Northerners, etc., everyone will be much better behaved.

We propose an end of the peace-time draft and the adoption of U.M.T.

We are also for increased parodies to farmers, with emphasis on Virgil.

America, the time for the Atomic revolution is at hand! Oh how long, America, will you, America, tolerate a system that works! Oh how long, America, will we of the W.L.P.L.M.I.C.P.J.A.A.I.F.S.F.A.H.B.B.L.B.F.T.E.S.R.S.R.W.L.R.P. be kept from power! Oh, join us, America! Register! Vote! March! Oh!

God's Grave Scholars

A local competitor to the Greyhound recently ran a story about the facial similarities between Pelvis Presley and Greek gods. The typesetter must have been stuttering, "A-pollo?" for the headline in the first edition read:

GIVE APPOLO GUITAR AND WHAT HAVE YOU GOT—ELIVIS PRESLEY?

And then this saucy version appeared in the next edition:
GIVE APPOLO GUITARTAR AND WHAT HAVE YOU GOT—ELVIS PRESLEY?

the
watch dog

As a way of introduction to the Freshmen, the Watchdog would like to explain briefly the reasons for the existence of this column.

There are among the members of the Greyhound staff two factions - - those who feel that the school paper should cater to the majority of the students, including the plain, simple average student, and - - those who feel that this periodical should cater to the "serious, adult, mature, intellectuals." For obvious reasons, the first faction has been referred to as being "of the 93%" and the latter as being "of the 7%."

Now the Watchdog, being plain, simple (some say simple minded) and probably below average is a true blue Ninty three percenter. This column is intended for all the C average students and for all those who make the Dean's "other list,"

The other photo in this column is of three average sophomores and three average freshmen (poor souls) who will participate in the annual freshman-sophomore rugby (?) game. Because the sophomores will win . . . I mean if the sophs win (Ha!) the freshies will have to wear their beanies until December 20th, election time. Of course, if the freshmen win, they no longer have to wear the beanies.

On the evening following the massacre, Oct. 6th, the Freshman Welcoming Dance will be held.

The new parking regulations really have teeth in them. If you don't believe it ask George Nellies or Al Emerson.

Loyola's new outdoor swimming pool in the back of the faculty house will probably be ready by the spring monsoon season. Looks like the place is going high class. Students have been requested to keep their feet off the chairs in the cafe. They were, more than likely, seven-percenters.

Yes, school has started again and the future Second Louies are parading around the campus once more. After consulting the ROTC Cadet's Manual it was discovered that it is possible for a Frosh cadet to earn a total of 106½ demerits in one day. How many cadets know what a "Form 44" is? (Hint: Ask some of the veterans) Are YOU a TIGER? Thanks to his CO, Thomas McHugh, Bobbie Lewis is getting in shape for cross-country during drill periods. Louder! EVERY MAN A TIGER!

Of Strange Women
And White Whales

When she told me, "Sure, you can take me home. Where do you live?" I should have been forewarned to expect the unexpected in New York.

For instance, I hardly expected the New York Herald Tribune to say that Moby Dick "may just be the finest film that this country has achieved."

Still less did I expect the New York Times, which damns with the Voice of God, to call it "one of the great motion pictures of our times." By then, however, I was ready for the New York Post's pontification that "... this is not a picture for the month, the year, or this decade. It can be placed immediately among the great American films.

After standing in line in the rain next day, I was disturbed to see a movie without action. Half-way through I felt as restless as if I had looked at too many objects in a museum. In fact, I got the impression that it was a move to be made rather than to be seen, being reminded of a line about the value of the "Mona Lisa" from another John Huston film, Moulin Rouge. In that, someone observed, "Da Vinci had his reward: he painted it." In short Moby Dick may be artistic, but it is not entertaining.

Disagreement over the film, however is slim when placed beside disagreement over Melville's book.

W. Somerset Maugham writes, "The fact is that Melville hadn't got what the French call l'esprit de suite, and it would be stupid to assert that his novel is well constructed."

But Yvor Winters says Moby Dick "is beyond a cavil one of the most carefully and successfully constructed of all the major works of literature."

Loyola R.O.T.C. Cadets
Among 1600 At Ft. Meade

Thirty-two members of Loyola's Advanced Reserved Officers Training Corps spent four weeks in summer camp at Fort George G. Meade and two weeks bivouac at Camp AP Hill, Virginia, in preparation for their duties as Cadet Officers this year. All are slated to receive their commissions as second Lieutenants in June.

Loyola received the first place trophy in Rifle Marksmanship by bettering the scores of forty other colleges and universities in the Second Army Area. Over 50% of the Loyola Cadets qualified as experts. In reference to the Cadet's performance, Colonel Charles A. Minot,

P.M.S.&T., stated "Loyola again upheld their established outstanding reputation."

At the end of the training period which included range firing of individual weapons and mock attacks, those who shown themselves to be Distinguished Military Students were given recognition by their commanding officers.

Back on the campus John T. Yuhn was appointed regimental commander; C. William Eichelman and Robert G. Duke named regimental commanders.

A record 455 students are enrolled in the ROTC program, including 220 freshmen.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

For what it is worth to those individuals who delight in mass murder and other group blood-lettig affairs, a rugby (?) game is scheduled for Friday, a week. This unrestrained melee is one of the school's best devices for ridding itself of undesirable sophomores, or for that matter, sophomores in general.

Please don't think that the sophs are at a disadvantage. They have the experience and the class. However, it's hard to show class while playing low-man-on-the-totem-pole to approximately 5 million freshman. GOOD LUCK!

Some Early Basketball

Noticed a young man by the name of Gene Shue in the gym the other day. He seems to know a little about basketball; probably picked up the game in the N.B.A. He's not as good as people say, though, he did miss one shot.

Being a member of the N.C.A.A. does have its drawbacks, i.e., Lefty Reitz has three fine ball players in Nieberlein, O'Hara and Hinkle, all of whom would contribute to his defending champs. The Association, however, demands that the transfer students sit out the first year in their new school. Jerry Komin is back though, and he's legal.

The Mason-Dixon tournament will be held on March 5, 6 and 7 of the coming year and will for the first time be held during the week, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Changes and Revisions

Congratulations to the powers that be for selecting Fr. Conlin as the new athletic moderator. He's a good friend to the boys and a staunch supporter of any team the Green and Gray fields. Can't wait to hear that speech he gives at the A.A. banquet.

That extra twenty-five bucks we contributed at tuition time is being used to good advantage in the gym. There now exist ten workable showers, three freshly painted ping pong tables and brand new massage machine which is the pride and joy of Wilson Dodson Beane. Shucks, at this rate, we'll have the N.C.A.A. down on us for overemphasis on athletics.

It's Intramural Time

A bit of advice for all freshmen surviving the massacre on the fifth . . . start getting your football teams together. Here at Evergreen the intramural sports are taken very seriously and, on the average, attract more spectators than the intercollegiate contests. So, if one desires word of his athletic prowess on the lips of the student body—Go Ye and form Thy Team!

Hound Grad In Olympics

Ray Wittelsberger, a graduate of the class of '49 and an All-American lacrosse choice, was selected by the Olympic Committee to represent the United States in field hockey at the '56 olympics.

Wittelsberger was the backbone of a stick squad which, in '49, compiled the best record in Loyola College history and held the powerful Maryland to a 9-7 win. The husky defenseman was chosen for the North-South All-Star game in his senior year.

Field Hockey Rough Sport

The sport in which Ray will participate is generally conceded to be one of the roughest in the olympic competition. Although the United States is not the sponsor of one of the best field hockey teams in the world, she does hold her own against such outstanding groups as the Irish and English.

Field hockey is played with the stick, a hard rubber ball and a equivalent of a midget ice hockey collection of rough and tumble contestants who attempt to drive the pellet through the opponents goal, or goalkeeper.

Fr. Conlin New Faculty Sports Head

The Rev. James J. Conlin has been appointed to the office vacated by the Rev. Robert P. Arthur as athletic moderator of Loyola College.

Father Conlin, a native of Philadelphia and a graduate of St. Joseph's Prep, attended Villanova University for a year and then entered the Society of Jesus.

Last year, his first at Loyola, along with his teaching chores in day and night school, he was class sponsor of the sophomore students.

Rev. James Conlin, S.J.

Despite his heavy schedule last year, Father Conlin found time to moderate the Greyhound.

Father Conlin has a sincere interest in the sports program at Loyola College and he hopes to stimulate more enthusiasm for our athletic events by holding several pep rallies this year on the athletic field.

Fall Sports To Begin

Soccer

Tommy Lind, in his third season as coach of the Loyola College soccer team, is currently working out the kinks in the '56 Hound squad. The young mentor, who was a Green and Grey star in his day, is confident that this year's team will be a definite contender for the Mason-Dixon crown.

McCarron, Benzing Captains

The squad is built around a large returning force of first stringers, led by co-captains Jack Benzing and Gerry McCarron. McCarron, high scorer on the '54 team, did not play last year because of an injury. Benzing could well be called the team's best bet, having been chosen All-Conference for the past three years.

In all, seven first line veterans will return to action. These include Ron Johnson, Lou Hoffebert and Jack Beatty in the backfield, with Moon Mullens, Pete Voight and Dave Bryan on the line. The freshman turnout is expected to yield two of three players capable of landing a starting job.

Cross Country

With the arrival of the fall sports season, Coach Bill McElroy is once again readying his cross-country team for the coming campaign.

Among the veteran hill-and-dalers returning are Kenny Billeb, Jerry Frese, John Usowski, and Tom Gunning. Billeb was McElroy's number one runner last season with Frese usually finishing a close second. Both Usowski and Gunning ran well last year and showed good, consistent form.

Freshmen Show Promise

However, Coach McElroy and his able assistant, Dr. Hoyt, have some incoming freshmen with whom they plan to bolster their squad. Paul Sherman, from City, has been showing excellent form as has Jack Burton from Loyola High School. Billeb, Sherman, and Burton have been finishing close together in the early practice runs this season and they could possibly afford the team with a strong one-two-three punch in their meets. Edgar Zepp, another newcomer from Mt. St. Joe, is also indicating fine running potential.

With this promising outlook, McElroy hopes to better the 4 win and 3 loss record his harrier squad compiled last year, and to better the seventh position that the team placed in the Mason-Dixon meet a year ago.

The first meet of the '56 season will test the Green and Grey against a strong Randolph Macon team on the southerner's home grounds.

Intramurals Open Oct. 8

The Department of Intramurals will begin its program on Monday, October 8th. Entries for touch football, tennis singles and horse-shoes close Friday afternoon, September 28th.

As soon as the entries have been processed by the Intramural Commission, schedules will be posted on the bulletin board in the gym and near the book store.

There have been many entries from the freshman class in the past and with the large enrollment of freshmen this year, even a larger turnout is expected.

Rules To Be Enforced

The following are rules that have been violated in the past but will be strictly enforced this season: 1. Varsity, "B" Squad and freshmen team members are not eligible to play intramurals during the season in which they are representing the school in intercollegiate athletics. 2. Only members of the same graduating class may play on a team although a team may be composed of members of different sections in that class.

Early Swimming Tournament

A swimming tournament is expected to be held in the Evergreen pool sometime in November. In the past, the meet was held later in the Spring and therefore was of no help in showing prospects for the Varsity team.

Those who are not familiar with the program should note that it takes only ten men to form a football team. Eight of these may start a game.

PLUCKY PUPS PREP FOR PITCH PASTING

For the past ten days, the freshmen of Loyola College have been proudly wearing the symbol of their class, the Pup Cap.

However, several of the members of the class are showing signs of dissatisfaction with their lot and there are indications that more are soon to join their ranks. The sophomores are still going to make sure that these caps are worn, so woe be to the freshie who makes the mistake of misplacing his bonnet.

However, there is a faint ray of hope in sight, for, if the frosh win the annual rugby game held on the Evergreen athletic field, they can discard their caps forever. This ray of hope may gleam even brighter, for the record shows that the frosh have always defeated the sophomores.

This game has its ups and downs and occasionally a competitor may find himself grounded, so, all contestants are advised to wear old clothing.

Referees in the game should be prepared for a possible trip—to the swimming pool.

The contest should provide several days work for the interns at the Union Memorial Hospital.
